ANNOUNCEMENT.

For reasons well known to many of the subscribers, the numbers of HEBRAICA—hereafter THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES—have, during the past three years, been issued irregularly. The work of organizing The University of Chicago, in connection with which the Journal is now published, has made it difficult to devote to the editorial work the necessary amount of time. Henceforth, however, subscribers to the Journal may be assured that there will be no delay.

The policy of the Journal will be 1) to encourage the scientific study of the Semitic Languages and Literatures; 2) to furnish information concerning the work of Semitic students, at home and abroad; and 3) to act as a medium for the publication of scientific contributions in these departments.

Articles will be published in German, French, and Latin, as well as in English. Original articles of one to four pages will be classed under "Contributed Notes."

Beginning with Volume XIII., the Journal is published in quarterly issues, instead of double numbers.
